

The English Language Proficiency Standards for Adult Education: What They Are and How to Use Them

Time: 8:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.

Description: New standards for English Language Proficiency were released last year. What does that mean for your ESOL class? How can the standards help you give your students the support they need to meet their career and education goals – increasing rigor, learning academic language, practicing critical thinking? This training will introduce you to the standards and give you practice in using them to meet the needs of your students at all levels.

Note: This is a DRAFT agenda for traveling purposes. The final agenda will be provided at the training.
