

Get There: Foundations of Effective Adult Correctional Education

Description: This training session is designed to empower both newly hired correctional and seasoned educators alike, and bridge the gap by offering insights and strategies tailored to the unique challenges of adult education within correctional facilities.

Participants will explore and discuss essential elements of effective instruction in a correctional setting, from understanding the dynamics of correctional environments to implementing adult learning principles and innovative instructional strategies. The presentation will delve into practical approaches for managing diverse classrooms, addressing behavioral challenges, and fostering a positive and inclusive learning atmosphere. Throughout the session, participants will gain valuable insights into adapting to the diverse learning needs of adult learners, utilizing technology in correctional classrooms, and navigating the complexities of building rapport with inmates. The training will also emphasize the importance of ongoing professional development, providing participants with resources and tools to continue enhancing their skills beyond the session. Participants will leave with a solid foundation in effective correctional education, armed with practical techniques, real-world case studies, and a supportive network to guide them in their crucial role as educators in adult correctional settings.
