

Teaching for Understanding: Practical ESOL Strategies for Correctional Classrooms

Description: This interactive, in-person professional-learning workshop is designed to strengthen instructional practice for educators serving English language learners in correctional settings. Open to all educators supporting English language learners, the workshop emphasizes low-tech, high-impact instructional strategies that can be implemented immediately. Participants will engage in hands-on activities focused on comprehension, vocabulary development, differentiation, and student engagement, with a specific focus on meeting the needs of mixed-level classrooms within the realities of correctional environments.
