- Tailoring professional development to meet local specific needs.

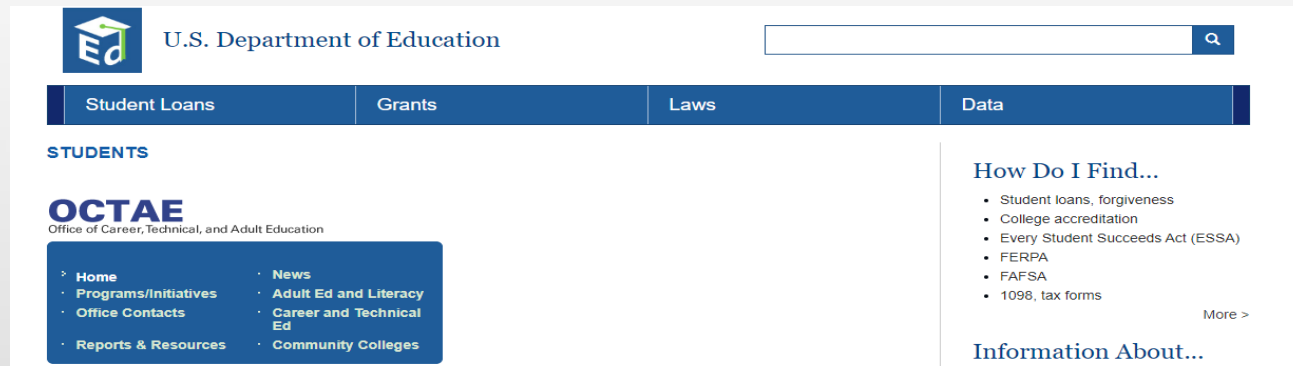

“People often resent change when they have no involvement in how it should be implemented.

So, contrary to popular belief, people don't resist change-they resist being controlled”

Florida has a coordinated professional development system that requires each district to:

- Report professional learning expenditures in state survey data
- Approve a Master In-service Program(MIP)
- Submit plans to DOE every four years to ensure alignment with protocol standards

Florida's Professional Development System Evaluation Protocol is a system that:

- Assesses the local planning, learning, implementation, and evaluation of professional development activities
- Is based on national standards modeled after Learning Forward standards (formerly, National Staff Development Council)
- Was created to fulfill requirements of section 1012.98 Florida Statute, School Community Professional Development Act

Resource Guide
p. 2 - 5

Criteria for evaluating the quality of each district's professional development system are:

- Performed at three levels: district, school, & educator
- Evaluated based on 4 strands
- Strands comprised of 65 standards using a 4 point rating scale
- Districts meet the adequacy provision when the average of the ratings for all standards is above the 2.5 midpoint of the scale

New! Free Resources to Train Adult ESL Teachers and Volunteers

September 25, 2019

All ESL programs want their learners to experience high-quality teaching, whether it is delivered by a full-time professional teacher, a part-time teacher who is new to the field, or a classroom volunteer. This webinar will share resources that have been developed to increase the teaching skills and confidence of classroom teachers and volunteers who may have limited time for training and varying levels of expertise. Throughout the webinar, participants will have the opportunity to explore the Minnesota Literacy Council's classroom activity videos, mini-trainings toolkit, and ESL small-group pull-out kits. These resources will support teachers and volunteers in areas such as giving effective feedback, delivering activity instructions, and using appropriate amounts of teacher talk. The presenter will recommend ways for programs to use these free resources to support teachers and volunteers, and participants will share their own ideas through facilitated discussions.
